HOCKEY FOR HOLIDAYS IS LATEST PLAN

Men Have but Short Time to Sign Up for List

NEW SCHEME

Faculties to Enter Teams—
All Hockey Men Eligible

Students remaining in Montreal for the Christmas holidays, who wish to play hockey, are urged to sign the entry lists posted on the notice boards in their faculty buildings.

The number of teams entered in the Christmas Holiday Hockey League will depend on the number of men signing the lists. It is essential therefore that everyone who desires to take advantage of this opportunity to secure valuable practice, before the regular series is commenced, sign up immediately. The lists will be closed Friday, and the number of teams will be based on the number of men signifying their intention of turning out.

Any man who plays hockey is eligible to participate in these games, regardless of whether he has previously played on a college team or not. It is a splendid opportunity for men of the junior and intermediate squads to keep in condition over the holidays, and an excellent chance for aspirants for the college and inter-class squads to perfect their condition and skill. Those whose aspirations are not so lofty are urged to sign up, as the hockey games are sure to furnish good sport for the "twelve study" periods during the holidays.

As at present organized, the league comprises six teams: one each from the faculties of Arts, Commerce, Medicine and Dentistry, and two teams from Science. A single schedule providing for fifteen games is proposed, three games to be played on each of the following days:

Tuesday, December 26th.

Thursday, December 28th.

Saturday, December 30th.

Tuesday, January 2nd.

Wednesday, January 3rd.

Should enough names be secured to form eight teams, two sections will be organized, and a play-off arranged.

Men are also requested to state their preference for either morning or afternoon games.

The following men have consented to act as faculty managers, and further information may be obtained from them.

C. Cope—Arts '24.
W. Montgomery—Commerce '23.
R. Zink—Med. '24.

ARTS AND LAW WILL DEBATE TUESDAY

Teams Represent Best Material in Two Faculties

"Resolved that government ownership of railways in Canada should be abolished," will be the subject of a debate between Arts '25 and Law next Tuesday at 8 p.m., in the Union. The method adopted this year by the "Lit." of interclass and interfaculty debates has received keen support from all departments, and good material in the oratorical art is being brought to light. Now that the finals in debating are drawing nearer an increased interest will probably be taken in the debate next Tuesday. The subject chosen is one that has and is being much discussed in Canada. Although the decision reached by the McGill debaters will not affect the question, it will prove whether the Arts or Law faculties have the better material as debaters.

The judges will be Dean Laing, A. K. Hugesson and W. H. Biggar. Bert Tremaine will occupy the chair.

G. H. Penrose J. C. Everett and H. Wells will make up the Arts team, and V. Barre S. D. Pierce and H. O'Hagan the Law team.

BREVITY

Owing to the press of news and the limitations of space, certain articles have received unfortunate omission from these columns; those being printed first which did not permit of postponement. The Daily, while unable to conduct itself otherwise, expresses regret for the inconvenience resulting from this, and in order to ensure that as few organizations as possible be disappointed requests that any write-ups sent in for publication err on the side of brevity rather than on that of lengthy detail.

MECHANICALS ON VISIT TO CRANE PLANT

Technicalities of Manufacture Explained

ANGUS SHOPS NEXT

Instructive Trips Undertaken
by Mechanical Club

Yesterday afternoon the Mechanical Club visited the works of Crane, Ltd., at 1280 St. Patrick street, on the south side of the Lachine Canal. This company is well known as a manufacturer of valves and pipe fittings, not only on this continent, but also in Great Britain and in Australia.

The visitors arrived in two groups, the first of which was personally conducted through the works by Mr. Jamison, the superintendent, and the other party by the assistant superintendent, Mr. Bartlett. From the office the party visited the basement to inspect the Ingersoll-Rand Air Compressor for supplying the pneumatic tools, and the switch-board which is an exceptionally large one for a manufacturing plant.

There were also two electrically-driven "Bilge Pumps" to keep the seepage from the canal, and nearby wet dock from flooding the basement. Pumps are used for the testing of fittings, and for moving the fuel oil supply, which is kept in an underground tank outside the building. Both these pumps are installed in duplicate.

"BOARD OF TRADE" SUBJECT OF TALK

Montreal Secretary Speaks to Commercial Soc. Tonight

Mr. Stanley Cook will be the headline attraction at to-night's meeting of the Commercial Society, when he will speak on the Montreal Board of Trade. Any one who has ever heard Mr. Cook speak knows that it is an attraction not to be missed at any cost. In case there are some the uninitiated who do not know who Mr. Cook is, the word that he is Secretary of the Board of Trade will be sufficient.

The Commercial Society is extremely fortunate in procuring such a distinguished man for this evening's talk, and every member is expected to be present. The workings of the Board of Trade will be explained by a man who has all the inside information in the matter. It is a subject which should be of interest to every student in Commerce, because of the large growth of these organizations, which are now spread all over Canada and the United States. Every one should know something about them, and an opportunity to secure first hand information does not come often.

There is also a good deal of routine business to be discussed, which is of considerable importance to the Society. Dr. Villard, Professor Sandwell, and other members of the faculty will probably be on hand, and are always willing to give much appreciated advice to the would-be business men.

The time set for this banner event is 8.15, and every student is expected to be there on time, and not stroll in about half an hour after the meeting has begun. Refreshments will be the last, but, perhaps, not least, palatable part of the programme.

VERY VIVID DESCRIPTION OF CHINESE

Student Volunteer Band
Heard Rev. J. Mowatt

'04 GRAD. FROM HONAN

China Has Introduced Western School Methods

A considerable group of students met in Strathcona Hall last night at a supper given by the Volunteer Band to Rev. J. Mowatt of Honan, China. The president, W. Pfeiffer, presided. Mr. Mowatt is a graduate of McGill '04. During his college days he was well known as an athlete and was a member of the Senior football team.

His eighteen years in the East have given him an understanding of the Chinese and their ways which made him an interesting and instructive speaker.

Mr. Mowatt began by illustrating in a vivid manner the change in attitude of the Chinese to white people in the last dozen years. His early term as a missionary was marked by many incidents which showed the hostile spirit felt for the "foreign devils". On entering new localities he was on occasions stoned—and to evade the wrath of the people many subterfuges of disguise had to be used. On the contrary it was true today that missionaries were often received by general popular ovations. Mr. Mowatt attributes the change not to any improvement in method or change in the missionary, but to the alteration in many aspects of Chinese life—notably in education. Following a decree of the Empress Dowager Western methods were introduced and schools were established on the Occidental plan, in many cases manned by missionaries.

Speaking to the medical men present the speaker outlined the methods that had been in vogue and the numerous "quack" doctors that still remain. He emphasized the need for medical knowledge at present, at the same time speaking of the improvements and advances that were being made with the help of the Rockefeller school and medical missionary doctors. Besides these, the western universities were contributing about fifteen or twenty trained Chinese doctors each year.

From the evangelistic point of view, Mr. Mowatt made it clear that no man need go to China to preach nowadays looking for "souls as an Indian looks for scalps." There are many ways of helping the Chinese by showing them how to live. A man's theology need be broad and practical in the best sense. The Chinese of the best classes have no time for a worn-out dogmatism.

It is a long time since students have listened with so much interest and benefit to one so eminently capable of presenting his subject. Mr. Howatt deserved the thanks of every man present.

STUDENTS TO HOLD SUNDAY SERVICE

Strathcona Hall Will be Used as Union is Unobtainable

The University Church service will be held this week in the Strathcona Hall. The sermon will be given by Hubert Wells. Although held at the Hall the service is entirely a student affair, being conducted in the same manner as those held at the Union in the past. The change is made because of the fact that the ring used by the B., W. and F. is up in the Ball Room of the Union, and it is to be used both Saturday and Monday night.

Miss Zerada Clack is to read the lesson, and a student orchestra and choir is to be present. The Church Service has for the past few years been highly successful. The students are handling the service, and taking care of all the arrangements concerning it. This has been the manner which in the past has made the service so popular. The usual time of 11 o'clock has been set for the opening of the service.

DAILY COUPONS

The coupon inserted in the Daily and distributed on leaflets to the students by the Business Department, should be filled out by everyone today. These coupons may be turned in to the Janitors of the Arts, Engineering, Medical, or Law buildings or at the Daily office in the Union.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT SET FOR TONIGHT

Sir Arthur Currie Will Be Present

VARIED PROGRAMME

Fine Talent Promises to Be Displayed at R.V.C.

The Glee Club steps into the spotlight tonight at the Convocation Hall, R.V.C. Interest in this concert has become very keen. A little of this may be due to idle curiosity; people who are simply wondering what this young Glee Club is going to do and whether it will come up to the standard set by last year's concert; but by far the larger amount of interest has been stimulated by the perseverance and ardour shown by the members of the club.

It must be remembered that the Glee Club has no intention of letting any other college glee club reign supreme; that McGill needs a glee club and that the members have worked hard to give the University one worthy of the name McGill.

A glance at the programme will convince one that the club has set itself no simple task. The music is the very best that could be procured from the home of the part-song and glee, namely, England, and much care was spent in choosing it. A great many hours of hard but pleasant work by the members have been spent in preparing for this concert and judging by the results so far, success should crown their efforts.

Every extra face that the Glee Club members see in the audience this evening will send their spirits up a little bit higher, and when they are cheerful they surely can sing.

Miss Muriel Anderson is the soloist and she will sing "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal," by Quilter, and "The Piper of Love."

Messrs E. A. Sherrard, L. M. Hovey and R. A. Moore will render a Suite for two violins and piano (Moszkowski), also two movements from a concerto by Bach.

Sir Arthur Currie, under whose patronage the concert is being given, has promised to attend and as expressed the hope that the club will receive the support which it richly deserves.

All up for a splendid entertainment tonight!

DEAN LAING ASKED TO SPEAK TO GRADS.

Guest of Honour at Alumni
Meeting at Ottawa

A further invitation has been received by Dean Laing, of the Faculty of Arts, to speak before the Ottawa Valley Branch of the McGill Alumni Association. So pleased were the members by the address given before them by Dean Laing recently, that they have asked him to be guest of honour at their annual meeting in the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa on January 16.

When asked for a word about the Ottawa graduates, the Dean said that he was greatly impressed by their esprit de corps. Many of the graduates hold important positions at the Canadian capital, especially in the Canada Club. The Ottawa Valley branch of the Graduate Alumni includes residents not only of the city of Ottawa, but McGill men living in all parts of the Ottawa valley. It was the first branch formed after the organization of the Montreal centre.

MONTREAL, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1922

THE DAILY CAMPAIGN

The campaign for procuring increased advertising in the "Daily" is having its effect. Active co-operation by the various undergraduate bodies is producing its results and the manner in which the coupon forms have been coming into the hands of the Advertising Manager has been highly gratifying, as also the fashion in which the individual undergraduates have been putting forth their efforts to procure advertisements for the paper from those with whom they have business. Two or three of the fraternities about college, it is reported, have promised their exclusive patronage to those dealers who advertise in the "Daily", and have bound themselves to secure all their supplies and necessities from those who thus employ the student journal as an advertising medium. Such action is highly commendable, and serves to emphasize the fact that unlimited success can be achieved during the days devoted to "boosting" the "Daily". Originality has unrestricted scope; any suggestion worthy of trial is sure to receive attention, and if at all efficient will redound to its author's credit and to his Alma Mater's benefit.

THE GLEE CLUB

Tonight the Glee Club is placing before the students the results of their labours for the last two and a half months. The concert scheduled to take place this evening in the auditorium of the Royal Victoria College will be certain to attract a capacity attendance; not only will the hall be crowded, but it will be filled by an audience appreciative of the best in music. The entertainment is given primarily for the benefit of the McGill undergraduates but the public is to be admitted as well, and judging from the concern manifested by outsiders there will be a large representation from those, not of the university. The Glee Club will not appear before the student body in its entirety again until the late spring, when the second performance will be held.

It is scarcely necessary to remind the readers of this column of the support which they owe the organization, and of the benefits which will accrue to them by making it a point to be present tonight. The Glee Club is endeavouring to introduce music to McGill—it is an attempt to supply what may at first sight seem to be lacking at the university, to offer selections that will be appreciated by genuine lovers of music. The estimation in which music is held by McGill will be judged by the number who witness the offering of this evening; after this evening it will not be said that McGill has no place among its activities for music.

EDITORIAL NOTE

The practice of certain undergraduates in compensating by vociferous appeal what they lack in numbers, of attracting attention to themselves and to the circumstance that they are students of McGill, of making themselves a nuisance to those in their vicinity and of obtaining their fun at the expense of another's discomfort is deserving of the severest censure. Last evening rowdy conduct, unbecoming a McGill man, was indulged in by a few—we are glad to say only a few—who made the evening an occasion to visit a local theatre which had devoted the night to McGill students; by so doing they brought discredit upon themselves and opened a possible channel of criticism of the institution of which they boisterously claimed to be a part.

COLLEGE MUSICIANS SCORE AT ALLEN

Students Support Players With McGill Yells

Vaudeville and moving picture audiences are daily growing more and more critical yet it is hard indeed to see how even the most rapid critic could offer anything but praise for that part of the performance at the Allen last night, which the McGill Mandolin and Banjo Club was responsible for.

The very able manner in which the pieces were rendered was a clear proof of the conscientious manner in which the men had practised. The rendition of James McGill must have inspired even those not in any way connected with College, and it certainly pleased the McGill men to judge from the exuberant manner in which they joined in with the orchestra.

When the curtain rose and revealed the McGill men on the stage, which was overhung with a huge McGill flag and pennants, they were greeted by a burst of applause which fairly shook the rafters of the big building. This was followed by a good old McGill yell, the direct results of which must have been at least many hundred sore throats. This vocal display was fully appreciated by the audience, who applauded its accordingly.

The first selection, James McGill, was rendered admirably. Next came the McGill March, which was run off with plenty of pep, and which gained the proportional applause of the audience.

The third offering was "Lest You Forget," played to the customary jazzy tune. Edgar Herring gave a selection "No. The committee which has undertaken body Lied" on the marimbaphone, accompanied by the Allen Orchestra. Next on the programme came the "Dance of the Skeletons," a gruesome rendition which was extremely suggestive of the name.

The last offering on the programme was the Empire Express, a march played by the McGill musicians to the accompaniment of the Allen Orchestra. The applause which followed would indeed have raised the dead had there been a churchyard sufficiently near.

SELECTION COMMITTEE NOMINATES DELEGATES

The selection of delegates for the National Student Conference to be held at Toronto Dec. 28—Jan. 2, met in Strathcona Hall yesterday at five o'clock. It was a difficult task to cull the list of two hundred names for those who will represent McGill at the great gathering of students.

About a hundred names were finally chosen, and it will be definitely settled in the next day or two, who are to go. Of these about twenty-five will be members of the R.V.C. Their names are reasonably assured. The rest have been chosen as representative of every phase and faculty of college life.

Of the staff: Dean and Mrs. Adams, Drs. Gifford, Best and Smythe will likely be present, while from the city, Dr. Roberts and Dean Carlyle will join the delegation.

The McGill group will travel by special train from Windsor station, leaving on the arrival of the seventy Maritime students on the morning of Dec. 28.

It is especially requested that selected delegates report to the office at Strathcona Hall as soon as possible, to complete the detail arrangements.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Daily is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE SIDE OF THE PAPER ONLY.

The Editor,
McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—I would like to draw the attention of all returned men at McGill to the fact that there is a sum of money in the hands of the treasurer of the Returned Men's Association. In view of the fact that the useful life of the association has long since ended, it has been suggested to me that the above mentioned sum be expended in erecting some suitable memorial to the McGill men who fell in the service of their country. The fact that the Union has at present no memorial of any kind, is much to be deplored, and this means of correcting this deficiency would, I am sure, be fitting. In order to discuss this matter I am calling a meeting of the Association to discuss the above suggestion, and I would ask all returned men to be present. The notice of this meeting will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Yours very truly,
D. W. AMBRIDGE.

The Editor,

McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—I wish to write thanking the "Lit." in postponing the Mock Parliament last evening, thus permitting the students, attending such an important and well advertised event, to turn out in full force to support the Mandolin Club, when for the first time in years this Club has taken on such an ambitious programme as a McGill Night, at the Allen Theatre.

In answer to Politicus' letter, allow me to state that the Mandolin Club had secured the 13th at the beginning of the month, the Lit. unfortunately not noticing this in the Daily, chose the date so as not to clash with any other events being held this week. When their announcement came out, they were immediately informed, and after a conference decided to postpone the Parliament. The large attendance of McGill students last night evidently showed that this event meant something to the student body.

Again I wish to thank the Lit. for their action and state that if Politicus did not attend the McGill Night, he undoubtedly missed a very enjoyable show.

Yours very truly,
R. S. LOGAN,
Pres., Mandolin Club.

FISTS, FALLS & FOIS

Semi-finals of Inter-faculty honours are to be held Saturday, the 16th, at the Union Smoker.

The enthusiasm demonstrated at Molson's Hall last night speaks well for the Inter-Faculty bouts.

The science of in-fighting was last night's topic, and the Coach was greatly satisfied with results.

Next Thursday night will be enlivened by two finals for faculty honours.

Bright and Potter, of the 158 lb. class from Science, will battle for the right to enter the Inter-Faculty bouts.

Ross and Adams, from Arts, will encounter for the fistic honours of that faculty for 125-lb. class.

The Inter-Faculty Finals will be held Monday, the 18th, at the Union Smoker.

Tickets will be on sale for the Semi-finals and Finals this week, early. The tickets are 25c for the Semi-finals, Dec. 16th, and 35c for the Finals, Dec. 18th.

The two tickets may be obtained for fifty cents.

The bouts seen last Saturday at the A. A. U. of C. Smoker gave some idea of the class of men who will be seen on the nights of Dec. 16 and 18.

1924 ANNUAL

The Business Manager of the 1924 Annual requests that all subscription lists and advertising forms be returned to him on Friday without fail. Out of 130 required writeups, only 26 have so far been submitted to the Biography Editor, H. C. Alward. It is imperative that the balance be turned in before December 22nd, if a start is to be made on publishing the book during the Christmas vacations. Many individual and group proofs have not yet been returned to Notman's. A strict observance of all Annual Board notices is necessary if "Old McGill" is to be completed in record time.

FAST FIVE VICTORS IN BASKETBALL

Despite Small Floor Team Uses Usual Tactics

GOOD SCORE

Alerts Were Last Year's Intermediate Champions

The McGill Senior basketball team won their second game in the City League when they defeated the Alerts by a score of 52 to 23. The game was a one-sided affair from the start. Although the Alerts were champions of the Intermediate League last year they did not produce any of the ability which won them the title. The McGill team was a much heavier and faster moving crowd of players. Although the Alerts were able to slip under the heavy defence now and again, for the most part their shots were from the middle of the floor.

The McGill team is developing a style of play that should make the aspirant for the intercollegiate title work hard. The team, in spite of the small floor, showed speed and was able to keep up a fast pace. Manson at centre, got the jump on every occasion. The forwards, Little and Turpel were working well. Little presented a bit of shooting which brought applause from the rather hostile gallery when he scored on a back-handed shot. Crain and Hilton have developed the defensive end of the game to a point where to penetrate it is almost impossible.

At the start of the game Manson got the jump. The ball went off-side to the Alerts. McGill got the ball on an off-side. A short series of passes terminated when Little rolled the ball into the basket. Little scored a minute later on a free try. The Alerts rallied and Lawton broke into the defence, dropping the ball into the net. Little nailed a pass from Hilton and again scored. The heavy defence delayed the Alerts and they resorted to long shots. Manson picked up a short pass from Turpel, shooting a basket. Nelson terminated a bit of fast work on the part of the Alerts, and drove the ball into the ring. McGill settled down to work and after a few clever passes Little rolled the ball under his arm to add two more points to the Red and White total. For the next few minutes the ball travelled up and down the floor with a few wild shots thrown in. Manson scored again from under a heap of Alerts. On the Manson, Crain, Little combination, Little scored again. Hilton let the sphere drive from the centre of the floor, and scored. Getting the ball on a sideline throw, Hollingworth added two points to the Alerts' score. Manson netted a free try. Turpel, Manson to Crain netted two points when Crain scored from under the nets.

Nelson of the Alerts closed the period by scoring from under the basket. The score totalled at the end of the period, McGill, 17; Alerts, 9.

The second period opened when Manson got the ball on the jump, and Hilton passed to Little, dropping it into the net. The Alert team, urged by the gallery, tried to rally, but the Red and White defence held tight. Crain scored again and shortly after Manson sent the ball into the nets. On a free try Manson added on a point. Buchanan slid a long low shot into the basket at this stage in the game, and the Alerts again started to rally. Nelson got a long pass under the basket and scored. Nelson injured his ankle and was taken out. Gogo goes on for the Alerts. Little scored at the end of a pass from Manson to Crain to Little. Then Manson and Lawton both hit the basket. Nelson came on again and scored at once. Turpel at this stage og the game cut loose, and in a short time sent the ball on five trips through the ring. Blumenstein went on for Hilton. Little scored on a backhanded shot. Manson scored on a free try, and the game ended with McGill, 52, and Alerts 23.

After the game refreshments were served to the Red and White team, who were highly pleased with the treatment received from the Alert team.

HISTORICAL CLUB HEARS GOOD PAPERS

Influence of Puritanism on English Literature

LIVE INTEREST

Difficult Subjects Rendered by McIntyre and Harris

The "Influence of Puritanism on English Literature" was very ably discussed in the two papers with which the Historical Club was favoured last night. The speakers were Harris of the Graduate School and McIntyre of the Senior Year. The rather difficult subject was presented in a way that bespoke much time in preparation and earned the hearty thanks of those present.

The meeting was called to order by Van Vliet, the president, whose prophecy of an evening well spent was soon justified. He remarked that it was unfortunate that the date of the meeting was coincident with McGill Night at the Allen; but that the attendance made up in quality what it lacked in quantity.

McIntyre commenced on the topic for the evening by going into the history of Puritanism, commencing with the 13th century and tracing its rapid rise and evolution with the translation and influence of the Bible in Elizabethan times to the height of its power at the time of the Commonwealth. The great reciprocal influence between the Puritans and the Bible partly through the popularity of the latter was dwelt upon, and its powerful effect, moral, social and literary.

As representative writers of their time Bacon, Raleigh, Shakespeare and Ben Jonson were examined, and a note on Milton appended. The subject was carried to the Restoration.

Harris continued to the completion of the Puritan influence at the end of the century. He pointed out that literature did not flourish during the Protectorate, and that Puritanism, though a strong and vital force, was, from its nature, unfavourable to it. Richard Baxter was quoted to give the Puritan point of view, and the influence of this in Milton was pointed out. The place of satirical poetry was taken up, and a humorous passage from "Andrew Marvel" was cited in proof that it was not monopolized by anti-Puritans. Dryden, as the "outstanding" poet of the period, and Samuel Butler, an exponent of the burlesque, both counter-Puritan in influence, were discussed. From the Puritan and the stage the speaker turned to Bunyan, and his almost universal appeal. To a growth of a mundane spirit and their fanaticism the decline of the Puritans was attributed, but in conclusion their smouldering spirit was still disclosed in the multimodal modes of present day censorship.

Following Harris' paper Dr. Friar congratulated the speakers on their efforts and moved a vote of thanks which was unanimously accorded. He expressed his approval at the choice of subject, as a variation from the modern topic usually considered necessary. As an Historical Club they were entitled to an historical paper. The present tendency is to merely scoff at the Puritan while overlooking his contribution to his own and following generations.

After an interesting discussion and a demolition of refreshments the club adjourned till after Christmas.

The next paper will be on Immigration.

not played together before, and presented no combination or team play whatsoever. If the Arts team had been able to get a few of the thirteen free shots instead of missing all of them the score would have been even larger.

For the winners "Jake" Myers was the hardest worker and was responsible for twelve of his squad's points. He shot baskets from all angles, but even he was baffled when attempting free throws. Jines, for Science, was credited with four tallies, all of them being penalty shots.

The game was fairly fast, but was hindered by the numerous technical fouls committed by Science. At the outset neither team had an advantage, and the fast Arts men were unable to find the basket, but when Becker and Myer had scored they staged a scoring rally and dropped the sphere through the netted hoop at regular intervals during the rest of the game.

BOXERS AND WRESTLERS WILL MEET

Inter-Faculty Competition Is to be Keen

GOOD CARD

Marshall and Snow Among Men to Appear Saturday

The semi-finals of the Inter-Faculty contests will be held on Saturday, the 6th, and the Finals on Monday, the 18th.

Great preparations are being made to make these smokers the greatest in history, and the entries are men of the pick from each Faculty.

The programme for Saturday night will be:

Boxing.
118 lbs.—Brodie (Med.) vs. Seale (Commerce); Wilson (Science) vs. Rapkin (Arts).
128 lbs.—Snow (Med.) vs. Lister (Science).
135 lbs.—Armstrong (Med.) vs. Hamby (Arts).
145 lbs.—Rankin (Med.) vs. Montgomery (Comm.).
158 lbs.—McKinnon (Med.) vs. Johnston (Arts).
Marshall (Science) vs. Potter or Bright (Comm.).

Wrestling.

125 lbs.—Galley (Comm.) vs. McEvoy (Med.).
135 lbs.—Howes (Science) vs. Bacal (Arts).
145 lbs.—Cotman (Comm.) vs. Ross (Science).
McNaughton (Med.) vs. McNaughton (Arts).
158 lbs.—Gilmour (Science) vs. Adams (Med.).

The contestants will weigh in at the Union Saturday afternoon between 12.30 and 2.30.

These bouts are usually the fastest and the most hotly contested staged in the city during the winter, for the contenders who are successful have the assault-at-arms for the college championships to which to look forward. The fights are staged in the ball room of the Union. The men who are to battle have fought their way through the ranks of their respective faculties, and are now fighting for the championships. With Marshall on the bill against either Potter or Bright, the fight will be an interesting one. Bright is a finished fighter, as is Potter, and when these decide which will meet Marshall, the Science boxer, the big fight of the evening will be fixed. Snow, the fastest boxer on the list, will undoubtedly unhook a few of his best tricks when he steps into Lister of Sci. These men fight at 125, and their match will be hot stuff, if the dope from the gym is correct. The railbirds have had an eye on the 135 pounders, and the man to battle Merritt, the Science fiend, will be selected when Armstrong and Hamby meet. Hamby is a new comer to the ranks, and is a bear for punishment. Armstrong packs a terrific wallop, and who will win the endurance test is a matter open for dispute.

The wrestlers have a potent line-up. "Bill" Gilmour, of Science, will meet Adams, of the Mes. This will be a headliner on the bill. Howes another whirlwind will appear. He, too, should be a winner, but a stiff bit of opposition may come from Bacal, the Arts champ.

Tickets for both nights are on sale at the Union Tuck Shop. For the semi-finals they are 25 cents, and for the finals they are 35 cents. Tickets for both nights can be obtained for 50 cents.

CONGREGATIONALS DEFEAT DIOCESANS

Score of 26-15 in Slow Basketball Game

In the last basketball game in the inter-theological series before the holidays the Congregational College scored a win over the men from the Diocesan College by the score of 26-15 in a slow game, in which neither team showed any brilliancy.

For the winners, Eddy and Moore were responsible for most of the tallies, while Norman and Cooney played very fair games for the Anglicans, who seemed to be a little better than when they last played the Congos. At half time the score stood 15-5, but in the final stanza the English Churchmen took advantage of the play of their opponents, and scored ten points to the Congregationals' eleven.

BASKETBALL WON BY THE MCGILL TEAMS

Intermediate "A" Plays First Game

SCORE 23-18

Players Were Well Matched Except in Weight

The McGill Intermediate "A" basketball team defeated the M.A.A.A. Intermediates at the Peel street gym last night in a clean-cut game. As the score indicates, the victory was by no means an overwhelming one, but the Red and White showed a slight superiority especially in passing. As the opposing teams took up their positions a noticeable difference in weight could be seen in favor of the McGill squad. This difference, together with more accurate passing, probably accounted for the Red and White victory. Fuller of the M.A.A.A., a man over six feet in height, accounted for the majority of points for his team. Scharfe, captain of the McGill squad, scored 10 points out of 23 for his team. Bronson, who was substituted for Rafalovich at half-time, scored six points during this period. James and Hodina of McGill added two and four points respectively to the score. The remarkably small number of fouls would indicate what a well played game it was. Only two fouls were made, and these by the M.A.A.A. Scharfe, who tried the resulting free shots, scored both times, adding two points.

With an ideal floor the teams set a fast pace in the first half; long passing was in evidence but it proved ineffective. The period ended with M.A.A.A. ahead—10 to 8.

During the last half the play centred a good deal around the M.A.A.A. basket. Hodina, Scharfe and Bronson were able to score 13 points for the McGill squad. The M.A.A.A. added 8 points to their score in this period.

A very small crowd saw the game, at long intervals a solitary voice would be raised in encouragement of either team. The line-up:

Patterson	Scharfe

Fuller	Rafalovich

Atchison	Snyder

ARGONAUTS WIN AT BASKETBALL

Defeat Junior "B" Team in First Game of City League

The Argonauts defeated the McGill Junior "B" basketball team 36-11 in a game played last night at Molson Hall. The game was a fast one, and was keenly contested.

Before the game started the McGill team elected Woodhouse as captain. The picking of the team was not an easy matter; however, the substitutes were used freely, giving each man a chance to prove his worth.

The game had hardly begun when Ferguson was injured and had to drop out. He received a cut over the left eye and had to have it sewn up.

From the outset the superiority of the Argonaut team was evident. They have a fast team and their defence is a big factor. There is room for improvement in their passing. As for shooting, they tried a number of shots from outfield, very few of which went in, but their shooting at close range was good.

The McGill team is heavy and fairly fast. This is the first game in which these men have played together, and it is not surprising, therefore, that they lack team-work. Their passing was fair and improved as the game progressed. Their shooting can be improved considerably, particularly as regards free shots. Only thirty per cent of the free shots were made good; the Argonauts scored about thirty-five per cent of their free shots.

For the winners R. Pryde played a good game at forward while J. Wilson was good on the defence. Woodhouse played well for McGill, while MacDonald was steady and reliable. Silver acted as referee.

The line-up was as follows:	Argonauts
McGill	Right Forward
Ferguson	E. Swift
Norton	Left Forward
Matheson	Centre
R. Pryde	Right Guard
D. Pryde	Left Guard
J. Wilson	Substitutes

and the bilge pumps have a Delco system attached, for use in case the city power be cut off for a few hours. The three low pressure and one high pressure steam boilers are used for testing fittings. Storage bins are provided for the raw materials. The grey iron pigs come from Scotland, and Hamilton iron is used for the malleable iron castings. The molding sand comes from Albany, N.Y., since no sand fit for molding has been found in Canada as yet. There is also a bin of very fine sand for brass casting. Here in the basement the charges of iron for the cupolas are weighed out, containing certain percentages of pig iron, scrap iron and "sprue iron." The coke for cupola use is imported from the States.

Contrary to the usual practice, the cupolas are situated on the top floor. Test bars are run every 15 minutes. The molten iron flows into a large ladle, from which the supply ladle is filled. This ladle is run around the foundry on a track, and from it are filled the individual pouring ladles which run over the rows of molds, each on its own track.

The molds are broken up over a grating, and the sand falls through to a mechanical riddle, where it is sifted, and to a mixer where it is tempered, and then supplies it to the molders' benches ready to be used over again. A man will make 300 molds in a 10-hour day.

The brass foundry has 20 melting furnaces. The brass valve fittings are all machined on turret lathes, milled and ground. The parts to be nickelled are bulled, cleaned, and put through a nickel plating bath. The valves are assembled, tested, and sent to the store-rooms.

In this department the exhibits to be placed in the showroom at 383 Beaver Hall Square were being prepared and arranged in glass cases. All standard valves are tested at 250 lbs. pressure.

The pattern shop was then visited, one of the best equipped in Montreal. A few wooden patterns are made, but the iron is used for the patterns of all standard fittings.

In the mill room there are six "tumblers" where the iron fittings are cleaned. They are then sorted and machined with semi-automatic machinery using collapsible taps. Wide flanges are machined in a variable-speed lathe. Malleable iron fittings are first annealed in oil-fired ovens and straightened in heavy presses. If desired they are galvanized in a coke-heated zinc bath.

The ovens in the core shop are oil-heated. The cores are made by girls. There is also a large mechanical core-oven which is used when there are enough cores to be made to justify its operation.

Before leaving, the stock room and order department were visited.

This was one of the most deeply interesting and instructive trips of this season of the club's activities, and those who profited by it are much indebted to Mr. Potter and Mr. Bennett, who sanctioned the trip, as well as to Mr. Jamison and Mr. Bartlett for their willingness to explain technical details. A visit to the C.P.R. Angus Shops is proposed for next Wednesday afternoon.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

"No study—no dates" as a rule for women at the University of Illinois is being considered by the second council. It has been suggested that two D's or one E take away the mid-week, and a D and an E or two E's take away both the mid-week and one week-end date, and so on, until three E's and a D eliminate all dates until the next six weeks' grades are reported.

Just another argument to prove the fact that a co-ed's life should not be one of E's.

Twenty women of the University of Illinois have signed up for boxing. Classes will be held outdoors, unless the weather prohibits. Another domestic science course?

More Reality Than Rhyme

To-day is not like yesterday,
When all was peaceful and so gay,
You can't go out,
But someone clouts
You on the head and swipes your pay.

The college days are not the same,
With this co-education dame
For now the hams,
Who flunk exams
Have others than themselves to blame.

We go around to shout and roar,
That we are out for blood and gore,
Then we get wild
And go to Child's,
'Twas not like that in days of yore.

Romance is not what it used to be,
Love making 'neath the apple tree;
For now it's done
With all the fun,
Of taking out a girl to tea.

And where's the man with hairy chest,
The one the girls all loved the best?
He calls on Jane,
In spats and cane,
And acts the fish like all the rest.

BRING BACK SUMMER.

Every day the climate tells me,
That the winter's drawing near,
With its overcoats and mittens,
And its muffler on the ear;
With its overcoats and shivers,
With its snow and with its ice,
With its slush and sloop and sneezes,
And a lot of things as nice.

Every day the date informs me,
That the time is drawing nigh,
When I must go out with dollars,
And serenely buy and buy;
By the calendar I notice
That the Christmas season's near,
With its world-wide joy and gladness,
Followed by bankruptcy here.

Stern and stiff I stand and face it;
Grimly wait the winter's frost,
Smile as Christmas time approaches,
But I'm feeling kinda lost.
If the truth must be unmodified,
And the honest fact be bared,
I don't like the winter season,
And of Christmas bills I'm scared!

DEAN BAING ASKED TO SPEAK TO GRADS

The Ottawa graduates, although they have ended their college days are still keenly interested in the welfare of their Alma Mater, and are keen followers of all first hand information about the Rugby, Hockey and other major teams.

"I was greatly taken with an editorial which appeared in yesterday's issue of the "Daily" under the heading of "A Committee on Schedules," the Dean said. "The suggestion is well taken, and should be followed up. At McGill
there certainly are many fine meetings taking place and many fine speakers to be heard. Often students are deprived from attending good meetings because more than one are on at the same time.

If a clearing house were established it
The Dean suggests that a definite person be consulted before the date of public meeting be fixed not with the intention of interfering with the rights of the heads of the various executives, but to co-operate with them so as to avoid the clashing in programmes.

The activity of the McGill Canadian Club is a matter of much pleasure to the Dean, who considers that the executive of the club is to be congratulated not only for securing as guests notable men, but for attracting so many. It is his hope that many more addresses by men of high standing will be heard at McGill
under the auspices of this organization.

WIGGINS IMPROVING IN R. V. HOSPITAL

The condition of R. H. Wiggins, of
Med. '24, who suffered a ruptured kidney while boxing at a recent practice of the B., W. & F. Club, is improved, it was announced at the Royal Victoria
Hospital yesterday.

When called on by a member of the "Daily" yesterday, Wiggy was bright and happy, and says that he is only a resident of the hospital for a short time, and that it is his intention to take part in athletics as soon as the doctors will let him.

It will be remembered that for the last two years Wiggins has been a member of the McGill Harrier and Track teams. This year he secured second
